

EOD Responds to Ordnance Washing Ashore in Outer Banks

Posted At : December 16, 2022 3:03 PM | Posted By : Admin

Related Categories: UXO Discoveries - Beaches Ordnance Washing Ashore

Kill Devil Hills, NC Navy EOD responded along with local Authorities in the Outer Banks to a call for ordnance that reportedly washed ashore near a residential area. Dare County Emergency Management Director Drew Pearson described the ordnance as "small" (specific type not reported) and "very old, possibly even World War I or pre-World War 1 vintage." EOD safely transported the ordnance for proper disposal.