Makua Beach, Hawaii Authorities temporarily closed a portion of the Kaena Point State Park due to the discovery of a muniton item located approximately 60 feet off-shore. The muniton was initially found by two divers in five feet of water just off of Makua Beach.

Park officials called the Honolulu Police Department Bomb Squad to report the find. Police coordinated with Navy EOD who responded and destroyed the item in place without incident. The muniton is shown below (exact type not reported).
