Jim Christensen is a contract archaeologist serving the UXO, defense, energy, and mining markets. With over 20 years of experience, Jim has worked throughout the U.S. helping clients navigate different regulatory issues.

Cross trained as a UXO Technician Level I, Jim is able to work inside the grid during intrusive investigations, eliminating the need to start and stop operations. This approach gives clients an advantage, allowing them to better demonstrate their compliance with federal regulations.

Jim currently serves as Vice President for ACR Consultants UXO Division. He works with his fiancé, Hillary Jones, who is a geoarchaeologist and is also cross-trained as a UXO Technician Level I.
