

WWII Munitions Found in Woods

Posted At : May 3, 2020 8:32 AM | Posted By : Admin

Related Categories: WWII Era UXO Finds

Cotgrave, United Kingdom Police responded to reports of old munition items in a wooded area off Laming Gap Lane. The Nottinghamshire Police requested assistance of EOD to dispose of the ordnance believed to be WWII era relics. A controlled open detonation operation was performed by EOD without incident. The specific types of ordnance was not reported.

