

Some Homeowners Only Get to Clear Out the Dust bunnies

Posted At : September 4, 2015 5:16 AM | Posted By : Admin

Related Categories: Souvenirs

Frostburg, Maryland A WWII era Japanese mortar was removed from a Maryland residence after the owners discovered the munition while cleaning. According to the Maryland State Fire Marshal's Office who responded to the scene, the type 100 mortar was inert.

"Photo provided by Maryland State Fire Marshal's Office"

It is still unclear how the old WWII ordnance arrived at the home. The item was removed from the home for proper disposal.