

Munition Dropped Off AT Military Surplus Store

Posted At : June 28, 2016 1:19 PM | Posted By : Admin

Related Categories: Souvenirs

Newhall, California Multiple business and residents were evacuated after a munition was dropped off at a Commando Military Surplus store. The owner recognized what appeared to be a small cluster bomb and notified authorities. The Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department's Arson and Explosive unit was deployed to the scene and determined the device was inert. The munition was removed from the store for proper disposal and residents and businesses were allowed back into the area.

