

Grenades Left Behind at Vacant House

Posted At : August 29, 2019 8:16 PM | Posted By : Admin

Related Categories: Unusual Mmunition Finds

Fort Walton Beach, Florida The Fort Walton Beach Police Department was called to a vacant home on where they discovered an abandoned vehicle with weapons, munitions and grenades. A caller had reported seeing rifles and two suspected grenades inside the car which had been left behind by tenants vacating the home.

The grenades were reportedly in a safe inside the car. The area was cordoned off until personnel from the Eglin Air Force Base 96th Civil Engineers Squadron EOD responded to safely recover the grenades. The two items were identified as a military grenades including one riot control-type grenade and one illumination grenade (specific types not reported). Police are investigating to determine the source of the grenades.