

Explosive Cup Holder - Man Drives Grenade To Police Station

Posted At : August 7, 2020 2:35 AM | Posted By : Admin

Related Categories: What Not To Do With UXO

Chattanooga, Tennessee A man drove his truck to the Hixson fire hall and informed the crew that he had a World War II Japanese hand grenade in his cup holder that he needed "help getting rid of the device." Firefighters took precautions and called the Chattanooga Police Department's Bomb Squad to help properly dispose of the grenade.

According to the fire department, the man found the grenade while packing his home to move. He says that it belonged to his father-in-law.