Lethbridge, Canada Police responded to two separate sites for reports of live artillery rounds in Lethbridge over the course of one weekend. One 82-mm mortar round was discovered in a garbage can near a drug treatment facility, and the other was found in Galt Gardens urban park.

Military EOD technicians responded to remove the rounds for safe disposal. According to reports, the mortar rounds have a blast radius of about 40 meters. Police aren't sure who placed the rounds at the two sites or why.
